1943	XI	The Vegetable Product (Excise Duty) Act 1943	The whole

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The administration of internal commodity taxation in British India has grown up piecemeal over many years and has been considerably expanded during the last decade Hitherto the introduction of a new central duty of excise has required the enactment of a self contained law and the preparation of a separate set of statutory rules There are now no less than 10 separate excise acts (the excise on kerosene being covered by a part of the Indian Finance Act 1922) and 11 sets of statutory rules and there are also 5 acts relating to salt the duty on which is by a wide margin the oldest of our taxes on indigenous commodities The taxes being closely akin to one another the methods of collection follow the same general pattern and many of the provisions of the various acts are identical or closely similar and this is the case also with many of the statutory rules This agglomeration of statutes and regulations dealing with similar matters is neither convenient for the public nor conducive to well organised administration Moreover under this disjunctive arrangement we have not and cannot readily construct a comprehensive code of standing instructions for the governance of the excise staff and each set of statutory rules is burdened with departmental instructions in which the public has no concern or interest and which even taken together do not form an adequate administrative code

2 It is accordingly proposed to consolidate in a single enactment all the laws relating to central duties of excise and to the tax on salt and to embody therein a Schedule similar to that in the Indian Tariff Act 1934 setting forth the rates of duty leviable on each class of goods At the same time the statutory rules will be similarly amalgamated and disembarrassed of their unnecessary detail The Act and the consolidated statutory rules together with as many manuals of departmental instructions as may be necessary will then form a complete Central Excise Code which will simplify the administration of this branch of the revenue system and aid such further development as may be necessary and any proposal for a new excise which may hereafter be laid before the Legislature may then take the simpler and more convenient form of a clause in the annual Finance Bill

3 The intention of the Bill is to reproduce provisions already existing in the Acts which it is proposed to repeal but in the process certain small amendments have been made either in modernising the language or for dovetailing the provisions and otherwise adapting them to present circumstances These amendments are the minimum consistent with such blending and adaptation

4 The combination of a number of separate measures each of which has been moulded to fit its particular subject necessarily includes their special features as well as those which are common to others in the group and it follows that certain provisions which have hitherto applied only to certain goods will after consolidation become applicable over the whole field either as a matter of course or by notification as circumstances may require In particular the Bill provides that certain features of the salt law relating to transport by small coastal craft will become adaptable as necessary in the administration of other excise duties

5 No interference of any kind is made in any of the existing duties These have been merely collected from the various Acts and reproduced in the Schedule and the item relating to salt has been so worded as to preserve to the Central Legislature the right which it has so long exercised of voting annually on the rate of duty to be fixed

6 There follows in the form of Notes on Clauses a tabular statement shewing the source of each provision of the Bill

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Experience of the working of the Bengal Tanks Improvement Act 1939 shows that it is almost impossible to recover water rates for tanks improved under the Act on a voluntary basis as provided under section 16(2) of the Act and that it is essential that water rates should be made compulsory in order that full benefit might arise out of the improvement of irrigation tanks which has been taken up on a large scale in areas affected by drought It has also been found necessary to make provisions for (1) empowering the Collector to modify the period of possession subject to the maximum period of twenty years in order that the cost with interest incurred by the authorised person may be realised within such period (2) taking possession of any land adjoining a derelict tank that may be considered necessary for the purpose of carrying out improvements in the tank (3) making only agricultural lands assessable to fees under the Act and (4) barring out the accrual of occupancy rights on the lands adjoining a derelict tank or its banks that may be leased out by the authorised person under section 18 The Bill has been framed with these objects in view

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Government have considered the Report of the Non Agricultural Land Enquiry Committee and are of the opinion that notwithstanding the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act 1882 the non agricultural tenants who hold lands under a lease for residential business manu facturing or other purposes are in need of better security It is obvious however that the degree of protection cannot be the same for all classes of tenants and it has been considered necessary to make a distinction between tenancies which are—

(1) of unknown origin or which originated from before the Transfer of Property Act 1882

(2) held under a written lease for a specified period of not less than twelve years

(3) held under a written lease but without specification of any period or without a written lease but originating from after the Transfer of Property Act 1882 in either case the period of possession not being less than twelve years

(4) held under a written lease or otherwise for a period of more than one year but less than twelve years

It is proposed to confer permanent heritable and transferable rights on all tenants coming under (1) Lessees under (2) should have a right of renewal on fair and equitable terms but in case the lessor has allowed a pucca structure to be constructed on the land the tenant should have the status of a permanent lessee irrespective of the period of occupation Lessees under (3) should have a permanent heritable right All holdings coming under (2) and (3) should be transferable on payment of a landlords transfer fee A perversion of user or a breach of a condition of the contract should be the only grounds on which a tenant under (1) (2) and (3) can be evicted In case of tenants under (4) provision has been made for payment of compensation under certain circumstances in case of eviction

The Bill has been drafted to provide for these protective rights and also to confer other incidental but necessary rights on the non agricultural tenants of the different classes

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The high mortality among cattle in Bengal due to epidemic diseases is well known but there is at present no statute in this province to control them Action taken on a voluntary basis cannot be effective as restriction on the movement of diseased cattle from one place to another their segregation and mass inoculation of healthy stock in affected areas are among the measures which must be taken to bring about a speedy control of the epidemic diseases This Bill has accordingly been prepared vesting Government with powers to undertake the necessary control measures

2 The Glanders and Farcy Act 1899 already in force in this province applies to horses camels asses and mules Under section 2(1) of that Act its provisions can be extended to apply to these animals affected with any dangerous epidemic disease by a notification issued by the Provincial Government in the Official Gazette It is not therefore considered necessary to extend the provisions of the present Bill to horses camels asses and mules

As a result of the prevailing economic distress many raiyats and under raiyats transferred their holdings by sale to maintain themselves and their families and thus reduced themselves to the position of landless labourers Such transactions mostly took place in the year 1943 It is considered desirable that provision should be made by legislation to enable those raiyats and under raiyats who transferred their holdings in this way during 1943 to get them back immediately or at some future date The Bill has been framed with this object in view

(b) GEOMETRY

Class VII

Problems

Bisection of angles and straight lines
Construction of perpendicular to straight lines
Construction of an angle equal to a given angle
Construction of parallels to a given straight line

Theorems

If two sides of a triangle are unequal the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it and the converse
Any two sides of a triangle are together greater than the third
Of all straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it the perpendicular is the shortest
When a straight line cut two other straight lines it—

(1) a pair of alternate angles are equal or
(2) a pair of corresponding angles are equal or
(3) a pair of interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angle

then the straight line are parallel and the converse
Straight lines which are parallel to the same straight line are parallel to one another

Class VIII

Problems

Division of straight lines into any number of equal parts
Construction of triangle and quadrilaterals with sufficient data
Construction of a triangle equal in area to a given quadrilateral

Theorems

The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles and the two corollaries thereto
If two triangles have two angles of the one equal to two angles of the other each to each and also one side of the one equal to the corresponding side of the other the triangles are congruent
If two right angled triangles have their hypotenuses equal and one other side of the one equal to one other side of the other the triangles are congruent
The opposite sides and angles of a parallelogram are equal each diagonal bisects the parallelogram and the diagonals bisect one another
If there are three or more parallel straight lines and the intercepts made by them on any straight line that cuts them are equal then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are also equal
Parallelograms on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area
Triangles on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area
Equal triangles on the same or equal bases are of the same altitude
